

GREGGIO
BESPOKE SILVERWARE

A vibrant, painterly illustration of a magical forest. In the foreground, a large, gnarled tree trunk is on the left, and a dragonfly with translucent wings and a blue body is perched on a rock in the middle ground. The ground is covered in lush green grass and plants, with numerous small, glowing blue particles scattered throughout. In the background, more trees and a soft, golden light suggest a sunset or sunrise. The overall atmosphere is dreamlike and enchanting.

PUT MAGIC EVERYWHERE

GREGGIO

SEE OUR FUTURE BY KNOWING OUR PAST

Since 1948 the Gruppo Greggio has been the pioneer and leader in the production of silver objects in Europe. At the time, its founder Rino Greggio, started his production, commercial and artistic process by welcoming and developing styles which inspired creative and cultural qualities which in turn, offered and nurtured a constant growth until today. The Group is managed by his children Barbara and Marco who share the same passion for silver, its onward development and appreciation. Hence, the Group's direction has adapted to the most contemporary marketing principals without losing sight of the artistic and cultural aspect of the silver industry.

Silver is our life

“At 14 year old age, I entered as an apprentice in a silversmith workshop in Padua. There I learned the secrets of this ancient trade, realizing that this would be the course and career of my life. After the war, with 21 liras from the sale of my bicycle, I purchased 1 kg of silver. Hence, the company “Rino Greggio” was founded in 1948, and together with 2 employees, we worked insatiably. Lots of time has passed since my small 4 x 4 workshop which has today become an important reference for the world of silver.”

Rino Greggio
Founder of the Company

The design and manufacture of world-class silverware and exceptional attention to detail from enquiry to delivery are the milestones of our history and success.

Greggio Group is the perfect meeting of craftsmanship with the modern production and technological capacity.

Boasting exceptional savoir-faire, our master silversmiths offer pieces of heritage while imagining the classics of tomorrow.

All phases from casting to welding, hammering, polishing and packaging are performed entirely in Italy.

Today as in the past, our craftsmen use a variety of precious and ancient instruments: hammers with different heads, mandrels, tools for engraving and chiseling, bulbs, punches, files, saws, shears and tongs.

Original italian silver masterpieces

The heart of the Greggio Group is the Internal R&D Center, where our experts refine innovative techniques, combination of different materials, new types of processing to make silver more and more appreciated among new generation through new stylistic lines, to meet the needs of all customers.

Inside Greggio's facilities there are different types of finishes and customizations:

- engraving
- partial and total browning
- burnishing
- satin finishing
- fire enamelling.

PRESENT AND THE FUTURE OF ITALIAN ARTISAN SKILLS

OUR HANDS,
THE MOST PRECIOUS
TECHNOLOGY.

Make a wish:
it will take shape from our hands as if by magic...

The fundamental methods of molding silver are still hand made here today and date back to the beginning of the 3rd millennium BC. Hammering, coining, turning, polishing, lost wax casting, engraving and chisel: the expert hands of the silversmith get to work moving with skill. Matter takes shape and finally the finished object is configured.

“The noble tradition of manual labor is our most advanced technology, it is a value that nobody can imitate.”

Every single Greggio creation is the result of a craftsman's technique of ancient silversmith school that meticulously takes care of every detail to guarantee an unchanged splendor even in a continuous use of the object.

And it is precisely in the details that the essence of greatness is captured.

“Unique pieces of lasting value - transform your dreams in silver.”

GREGGIO has established a highly regarded reputation for its bespoke cutlery and holloware service. Based upon its in-house abilities to engrave, gold embellish and enamel. This variety of specialist techniques can be individually tailored to suit any customer requirements. Any pattern of Greggio can be embellished to create a distinctive and unique dinner service or special gift. A variety of decorative options are available combining traditional craftsmanship and exquisite finishes.

ENGRAVING From a commemorative date or Monogramme to elaborate family crests, any design can be realized.

GOLD EMBELLISHMENT You can finish the article with a total or partial gilding, only in some areas of the same. The production process involves the use of galvanic baths with 18kt gold. The gold finish prevents oxidation of the object in contact with the air.

ENAMELLING The hand application of jewel like opaque or translucent colours to accentuate the design and deep relief of many cutlery patterns.

RHODIUM The rhodium plating of metals is a tackle technique which makes metals (generally silver and gold) brighter and more resistant to corrosion and wear.

RUTHENIUM It has a very high hardness e it allows you to get one rather coloring dark, anthracite color.

PALLADIUM It is a rare metal, of silvery-white appearance, extremely durable to air corrosion and to action of acids.

BLUING The bluing technique of metals aims to obtain non-stick surfaces resistant to chemical agents. It is performed on silver to make the color a little darker and vintage.

Coating with different colours

Coating with food safe varnishes, water-based anilines, which are sprayed and then they are fixed to the object with a high temperature annealing, and subsequent painting.

DETAIL MAKES THE DIFFERENCE
PRECIOUS FINISHING TOUCHES FOR YOUR UNIQUE COLLECTIONS

Matt finish

The satin finish is the processing which allows you to get a matte effect with a vintage style, ensuring additional protection to the finished product.

Hammering

A precious and ancient molding technique, already found on finds of native silver prior to the discovery of metallurgy in the IV millennium BC. It is made by hand, with various hammers a depending on the "typing" to be obtained, which can be more linear and contemporary or more abundant and classic. Among the techniques of manual implementation it is certainly the most time-consuming and mastery of the artisan.

Microdiamonds

It is a chemical and sieving process that allows selection of microdiamonds with a diameter of 140 microns, made of 100% by carbon and available in different colors. Thus we develop collections with a luxurious and exclusive character.

LIMITLESS ITALIAN SKILLS AND TALENT

The GREGGIO Bespoke Service lets you take inspiration from Greggio's vast archive of shapes and patterns; perhaps you'll adapt a historic service, like Impero or Luigi XV to a new design - or suggest something entirely new.

Diamond finish

This process elevates the product to a very luxury object, which is made unique by the craftsmanship of the execution and attention to detail. Small recesses make the surface of the object multi-faceted with small points of light and give preciousness to the article.

Laser engraving

The laser engraving is permanent and very resistant to abrasion, which allows a very high level of customization, both on flat surfaces and curves. This method is quick, as the material is removed with each pulse of the laser. The depth of the marks is controlled by the number of times the laser beam is passing on the material. Furthermore, it is more effective than traditional engraving for small objects.

Photoengraving

Photo etching is another technique to engrave metal materials in an extremely precise way, starting from some very decorated design and shapes.

Pantograph Engraving

It is a very handy technique to engrave items. This is absolutely the most artisanal and artistic method of engraving that we can find, as it expresses all the skill of the engraving that uses the freehand pantograph to design what the customer requires.

Individually or combined, any of the above effects will achieve a stunning bespoke result.

Monogram service

Greggio's expert artisans can personalize any of our designs to your exact specifications. The bespoke monogram service enables you to incorporate a set of initials, a coat of arms or a company logo into a current or archive design, or engrave it upon stemware and silverware. Whatever you desire, rest assured we'll be certain to consult you every step of the way.
