Founded in 1994 by Rino Greggio, the "Accademia dell'Argento" became the Cultural institution of the Group, an historical reference for silver at a world wide level. A place created to help transferring the knowledge and culture of silver. It is composed by a rigorous didactic program and a specific project research. Not to mention its destiny in becoming the museum-library of silver where the study and research on the preservation and development of the history, tradition, philosophy of living with silver takes place.

DETAIL MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

PRECIOUS FINISHING TOUCHES FOR YOUR UNIQUE COLLECTIONS

Hammering

A precious and ancient molding technique, already found on finds of native silver prior to the discovery of metallurgy in the IV millennium BC. It is made by hand, with various hammers depending on the "typing" to be obtained, which can be more linear and contemporary or more abundant and classic. Among the techniques of manual implementation it is certainly the most time-consuming and mastery of the artisan.

ENGRAVING From a commemorative date or Monogramme to elaborate family crests, any design can be realized.

GOLD EMBELLISHMENT

Si può usare il maniera totale o parziale a zone, per rendere più prezioso un articolo. Il bagno in oro previene l'ossidazione dell'oggetto a contatto con l'aria.

ENAMELLING The hand application of jewel like opaque or translucent colours to accentuate the design and deep relief of many cutlery patterns.

RHODIUM The rhodium plating of metals is a tackle technique which makes metals (generally silver and gold) brighter and more resistant to corrosion and wear.

RUTHENIUM It has a very high hardness e it allows you to get one rather coloring dark, anthracite color.

PALLADIUM It is a rare metal, of silvery-white appearance, extremely durable to air corrosion and to action of acids.

BLUING The bluing technique of metals aims to obtain non-stick surfaces resistant to chemical agents. It is performed on silver to make the color a little darker and vintage.

GREGGIO has established a highly regarded reputation for its bespoke cutlery and holloware service. Based upon its in-house abilities to engrave, gold embellish and enamel. This variety of specialist techniques can be individually tailored to suit any customer requirements. Any pattern of Greggio can be embellished to create a distinctive and unique dinner service or special gift. A variety of decorative options are available combining traditional craftsmanship and exquisite finishes.

Matt finish

The satin finish is the processing which allows you to get a matte effect with a vintage style, ensuring additional protection to the finished product.

Microdiamonds

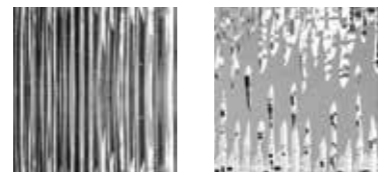

It is a chemical and sieving process that allows selection of microdiamonds with a diameter of 140 microns, made of 100% by carbon and available in different colors. Thus we develop collections with a luxurious and exclusive character.

LIMITLESS ITALIAN SKILLS AND TALENT

The GREGGIO Bespoke Service lets you take inspiration from Greggio's vast archive of shapes and patterns; perhaps you'll adapt a historic service, like Impero or Luigi XV to a new design - or suggest something entirely new.

Diamond finish

This process elevates the product to a very luxury object, which is made unique by the craftsmanship of the execution and attention to detail. Small recesses make the surface of the object multi-faceted with small points of light and give preciousness to the article.

Laser engraving

The laser engraving is permanent and very resistant to abrasion, which allows a very high level of customization, both on flat surfaces and curves. This method is quick, as the material is removed with each pulse of the laser. The depth of the marks is controlled by the number of times the laser beam is passing on the material. Furthermore, it is more effective than traditional engraving for small objects.

Photoengraving

Photo etching is another technique to engrave metal materials in an extremely precise way, starting from some very decorated design and shapes.

Pantograph Engraving

It is a very handy technique to engrave items. This is absolutely the most artisanal and artistic method of engraving that we can find, as it expresses all the skill of the engraving that uses the freehand pantograph to design what the customer requires.

Individually or combined, any of the above effects will achieve a stunning bespoke result.

Monogram service

Greggio's expert artisans can personalize any of our designs to your exact specifications. The bespoke monogram service enables you to incorporate a set of initials, a coat of arms or a company logo into a current or archive design, or engrave it upon stemware and silverware. Whatever you desire, rest assured we'll be certain to consult you every step of the way.
